- Goal of the program is to support a person to be as independent as possible
- The behavior support staff receive clinical supervision under a NYS Licensed Psychologist

Behavior Support is available to people receiving services in an Arc residential or day habilitation program. We help people have the best possible behavioral health, which may include helping them learn skills to better manage their behaviors in a variety of settings, (i.e., community, day site, or home).

The Arc personalizes Behavioral Support Services to specifically meet the needs of each person. Through careful assessment, and in conjunction with the person supported, we develop an individualized plan that incorporates positive strategies and the least restrictive options for the staff to use. We utilize functional behavioral assessments to address underlying issues. If medications are part of the plan, guidelines are incorporated to ensure we appropriately monitor and report symptoms and progress.

Eligibility:

- Only Arc day habilitation and/or residential service recipients are eligible.
